Dear Sir or Madam:

We are proud to announce the selection of your biographical profile with photograph for listing on our website: www.asianbiographies.in. This offer is being made only to select individuals in order to give universal exposure to their meritorious achievements. We are sure you too will welcome this decision and participate in this venture.

The website will contain biographical profiles of numerous eminent and leading personalities from various walks of life such as Science, Education, Government, Management, Medical Science, Politics, Art & Culture, Cinema, Business, Engineering and Journalism. In a word, it means instant recognition at the mere click on a keyboard.

It is a carefully programmed presentation keeping in mind the achievements of those listed in it. It highlights not only today's achievers but also many showing the tenacity and promise to be leaders of tomorrow at regional, national and international levels standing apart as it were from their contemporaries in deed and performance.

In short, it will be a unique experience for you-being presented on a facet of technology where almost the whole world is focused today—the unparalleled 'internet'.

Awaiting your prompt response we remain,

Importantly yours,

Ravi Bhushan – Editor.
